

BLAZE YOUR TRAIL IN HISTORY!

STEP 1: FIND YOUR FOOTING

One option for completing your History degree requirements is to choose a trail of courses linked by the same theme. Meet with your Academic Success Coordinator or a member of the History Department faculty to learn more about trails. Look to flyers for lists of courses along each of the following trails:

- War & Diplomacy
- Women & Gender
- Revolution
- Race & Ethnicity
- Empire, Colonialism & Borderlands
- Religion
- Environment

STEP 2: START DOWN A TRAIL

When you find a trail that appeals to your interests, enroll in courses linked to the trail. Use these courses to fulfill your degree requirements.

STEP 3: DISCOVER CONNECTIONS

In your coursework, make connections along the trails you've journeyed. Consider research projects that connect to your trail's theme. Talk to faculty and your peers to make more connections outside the classroom.

STEP 4: COMPLETE YOUR DEGREE

Consider doing a capstone project that coordinates with your trail. Use the courses you've completed along your trail to fulfill your history requirements and electives.
